

Making Cheshire Safer

The opening of Lymm Fire Station means that all four of Cheshire Fire Authority's new fire stations are now responding to emergencies and working in their communities.

The stations at Alsager, Penketh, Lymm and at Powey Lane in Mollington were built as part of a comprehensive programme to improve emergency response across Cheshire over the past five years and to improve the efficiency of the organisation in light of reduced funding from central government.

The centre provides an immersive learning environment where people of all ages can develop the skills and knowledge they need to stay safe and well at home, on the road in and in our community. It has already welcomed over 2,000 young people and other visitors from across Cheshire since it became operational last Summer.

This year will see the launch of the shared headquarters site for Cheshire Fire and Rescue Service and Cheshire Constabulary at the existing Constabulary HQ at Clemonds Hey, Winsford. This is a key element of the Blue Light Collaboration programme between the two services to save costs and increase resilience, by having joint teams provide many support functions to both organisations.

Lesson4Life programme

In turn, work will begin on redeveloping the Authority's previous headquarters site at Sadler Road, Winsford into an operational training facility that will provide realistic and immersive training so that firefighters can respond to a range of incidents confident, competently and safely.

In addition, preparatory work is underway to construct a new, replacement fire station at Chester at the location of the current station on St Anne Street. The new premises will provide a more fit-for-purpose and efficient building than the current site, which has served the city for nearly 50 years.

Finally, the Authority will also be preparing for its inspection from Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Fire and Rescue Services (HMICFRS), which will provide an independent judgement on how effectively and efficiently Cheshire Fire and Rescue Service keeps people safe from fire and other risks and how well it looks after its staff.
